Performance reports by mail and Slack

Design reports: when they go, to whom, what they hold and how they are sent. Each person gets their own part.

Mailing, as you see it (names replaced).

Every data point

DATA POINT	WHAT IT SHOWS AND HOW TO USE IT
New report	Design a performance report: when (daily, weekly, monthly, or when someone's numbers are very poor or very good), who (by role or by name; each gets their own part), what (topics and questions) and how (mail with CC, Slack messages, Slack channels).
Your reports	New reports start in Preview: only admins get them, with the list of who would. Preview shows the mail as any person would get it; Send test sends it to you; Go live sends it to everyone on schedule. Last runs show what went out.

A report

PART	CHOICES

When	Daily (working days), weekly, monthly, or when someone's own numbers are very poor or very good (checked daily, at most once a week each). Times are IST; reports before 12:00 cover the period before.
Who	Roles and named people. Admins get the company, team leads their team and projects, product owners their projects, members their own tasks.
What	Topics (how it went, due today, tasks in hand, releases, what went well, what to improve, lagging, load, what is holding us back, leave) and questions for the reader.
How	Mail with CC, Slack message to each person, Slack channels (one company copy each).

States

STATE	WHO GETS IT
Preview	Admins only, marked PREVIEW, with the list of who would get it. Every new report starts here.
Live	Every recipient, on schedule.
Paused	Nobody.

Preview on a card shows the mail as any person would get it, sending nothing. Send test sends it to you only. Last runs shows what went out, failed or was skipped.
